Louie B. Nunn Speaks At University Monday

The future of the Republican Party in Kentucky and the nation depends upon its ability to develop a new image which will attract young people, blacks and other special interest groups.

This was the assessment of former Gov. Louie B. Nunn while speaking at a political science and public administration seminar at Murray State University Monday night.

"They've always looked upon the Republican Party as the one that represents the special interest groups," the former governor said, "and I would love to debate that with anybody. To which party does organized labor belong? Which party got 90 per cent of the black vote?"

Special interest groups have turned to the Democratic Party, because it plays the role or claims to be the advocate of the little man — and it has gotten away with it.

The development of a new party image for the Republicans is going to be a long, slow and tedious process, the former governor said, but it is essential if the party is to become anything other than a "permanent minority" party in the state and nation.

Nunn, now a practicing attorney in Lexington, went on to say that the party needs to "gear its platform to fit" the issues which he sees as the most glaring in the years ahead: taxes, crime, health care, energy availability and conservation and those which affect the voters' "quality of life."

"The people are demanding more and more in services from government," he noted. "They want a cleaner environment, consumer protection and better everything."

"If government is to meet these demands, it takes more money and the only way to get money is through more taxes."

Crime hasn't reached its peak yet, the former governor predicted. "It is moving into the rural areas and into the suburbs," he said.

Nunn, who became the first Republican elected to the state's highest office, in 1967 in 27 years, emphasized that if the Republicans don't move quickly and effectively on these and similar issues, the recent trend away from party-line voting will put the Democratic Party in front for good.

Nunn also noted "a drastic change in the attitudes of the people" in recent years with respect to party affiliation.

"Many have become alienated and cynical about government because they feel powerless in dealing effectively with government," he said. "The thing that bothers them the most is the 'bigness' of it. They feel everything is so big that they can no longer be heard; that they have no influence, no communication. They are angry, and as a result have become frustrated."

Today, 21 to 23 per cent of the voters identify with the Republicans, as compared with 40 to 43 per cent who identify with the Democrats, he pointed out in emphasizing that neither is "the majority party of the people."

This, he said, has led to the development of a new, third party which he chose to call the "ad hoc committee" — special interest groups, each with a cause. Making up this group, he said, are the conservationists, the environmentalists, the consumer protection groups and others.

"These people have joined little groups because someone indicated they cared, and both parties have tried to become so broad and so big — like a Mother Hubbard whose skirt covers everything but touches nothing," he said.

In summarizing his remarks Monday night before a large crowd in the auditorium of the university's Special Education Building, Nunn said his fellow Republicans also must become more active if the party is to regain a position of leadership in the state.

"The ones who identify with us are going to have to become activists," he said. "I understand why they aren't. They were intimidated by Watergate. They were embarrassed by it and that caused them to close themselves in."

There must be greater emphasis on "quality" in the selection of candidates, he said. "If you get the right candidate, you can elect Republicans to offices where it was never expected or anticipated."

The revitalized Republican Party must also be one of principles, and strong convictions on certain things, he noted. "We must have some ideal, some principle, that will attract local people," he said.

"They talk about a Republican Party that covers all bases, but you cannot pre-empt the Democrats," he went on. "They already have taken in everything and we are not going to get them to leave, so we need to establish a party of principles and of strong convictions."

"Then we have to let the people know where we stand. That means communication, and that boils down to the most essential thing in politics and that's money, money and more money."

The former governor was on the Murray campus for a two-day stay, speaking to capacity political science classes both days as well as at the public seminar Monday night in inaugurating a distinguished lecturer series sponsored by the Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the university.

Respite From Snow Predicted For State

By The Associated Press

About a month ago, a two-day respite from snow wouldn't have been very happy news for Kentuckians. But that National Weather Service forecast indicates that, at least for a couple days, winter's icy grip on the state should be a bit more comfortable.

A system that dumped three to six inches of new snow across the state over the weekend moved eastward out of the state today, and was replaced by a general clearing trend that was forecast to produce partly cloudy skies and high readings in the mid 30s through Wednesday.

The prospect of relative relief from continuing snow and sub-freezing temperatures could bring some thawing of snow and ice accumulations in some areas, but the cloudy conditions will impede any appreciable breakdown of the snow cover, an NWS spokesman said.

In Covington, which has shattered all records with 27.6 inches of snow this month, a spokesman said that highs through Wednesday were expected to reach only the freezing mark and little if any melting was expected.

The spokesman said that the bizarre weather marking Kentucky's worst winter in perhaps 30 years is typical of the normal snowfall in northern Ohio and Michigan.

The continued cold and snow again produced the familiar litany of weather-related problems: schools across the state were closed, businesses and government offices operated under severe natural gas curtailments, motorists were troubled by slick roadways, farmers faced a critical loss of crops and livestock, and hundreds of workers were forced to stay home because of layoffs triggered by the cold.

Too, the Ohio River continued to struggle under a foot-thick cover of ice that has all but eliminated barge traffic. Many riverport communities are running short of fuel, ice-retarding chemicals and other staples because of the river ice.

Things have become so critical on the river that Army Corps of Engineers officials warn that a sudden warming trend could be as troublesome as the present cold snap.

An extended temperature rush into the 40s could produce flooding and ice "corries" that could damage shorelines as well as locks and dams, officials said.

The intensity of weather in this first month of 1977 could still affect the Commonwealth this summer, long after memories of the cold and snow have become fuzzy.

Major Kentucky utilities such as Columbia Gas Co., Texas Gas Transmission Co., Kentucky Utilities and the Tennessee Valley Authority have warned that the current record demand could cause troubles later this winter and spring. During the summer, those same utilities will be trying to meet customer demands for air conditioning while trying to replace stockpiles depleted this winter.

The gas suppliers have ordered cuts of from 35 to 100 per cent in supplies to hundreds of factories, business offices and schools while asking residential customers to lower thermostats a few notches below the comfort zone.

Electric utilities, meanwhile, have requested similar moderation to avoid a recurrence of the recent critical period when companies barely met the peak demands.

Theatre Company To Perform At Calloway County Library

An improvisational theatre company for children is scheduled to perform at the Calloway County Public Library Wednesday, January 26 at 3:00 p.m.

"Pick a Fable - Any Fable!" will be presented by The Thieving Magpies, a troupe performing only original plays based on well-known literature and stories.

Richard Valentine, producer of the Magpies, also operates his own puppet theatre that performed at the library twice last fall. As with the puppet shows, the audience will participate a great deal in the development of the plot. But since the play uses live actors, not puppets, the children will be playing parts on stage in addition to being the audience.

The scenes and plays will be made up as the show progresses since there is no script or outline for "Pick a Fable." The title implies just what the show will be — the actors or the audience pick a story; any story. After that, what you will see on the stage is unrehearsed, though it is not unprepared, and the stories are often created and re-created before your eyes.

Jeff Lackey, senior at Murray State, has performed with Valentine in Central Kentucky and will be half of the two-man show coming on Wednesday. Lackey was seen on the University stage most recently in "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum."

Two File For Sheriff Here

Two more Calloway County men have added their names to the list of candidates for the office of county sheriff in the May Democratic Primary.

Bennie Jackson, Route Seven, and Jerry Lee Hopkins, Route Three, have filed for the office, according to Marvin Harris, Calloway County Court Clerk.

and in the title role in "Winnie the Pooh."

The one hour-long performance will begin at 3:00 p.m. Wednesday. There will be no morning story hour. The public is invited.

On Wednesday, February 2, at 3:30 p.m. The Richard Valentine Puppets will return to present "Lester Skunk's Unbirthday Party."

Co-op Power Charges To Drop Again In February, Walker Says

Some 24,500 members of the West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative got a small ray of sunshine today, in the midst of the coldest winter in recent years, when John Edd Walker, general manager of the co-op, announced that TVA power charges will decline again in February.

This will mean a savings of 54 cents per thousand kilowatt hours below the January level of charges for residential consumers, Walker said, and it will be the fifth straight decline in monthly charges that vary with TVA's costs for power plant fuel and purchased power.

However, Walker said, for homes with electric heat, the cold weather and heavy power use this winter have a much bigger effect on electric bills than these monthly variations in power charges, "so heating bills will be large."

Next month, though, he said the average cost per kilowatt hour of electricity used will be generally a little less than it was at the same time last winter.

The West Kentucky RECC manager also said that due to the extremely cold weather and icy road conditions in recent weeks, it has been impossible to read all of the members' electric meters, and a number of bills will have to be estimated.

Walker said estimated bills will be clearly marked with an "E" and will be properly adjusted when weather permits the meters to be read.

Day Hours Only For Local Library

The Calloway County Public Library will observe day hours only this week, according to a library spokesman.

Hours for the library to be open will be from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. through Saturday, January 29, in order to conserve fuel.

It is hoped the library will be able to resume its night hours starting Monday, January 31, library officials said.

Trailer Destroyed By Fire Sunday

The trailer home and contents of Mrs. Helen Hounshell and her six children were destroyed by fire Sunday about 3:00 p.m. The trailer was located in the yard of Mrs. Hounshell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Green Stacey on the Dexter Route One, Rufe Burken Road.

Mrs. Hounshell's husband, William Hounshell, died December 11, 1975. The children's names and ages are Diane, 17, Carol Sue, 16, James, 15, Rodney, 14, Virginia, 12, and Michelle, 11.

The family is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stacey and also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller at the present time.

A shower for the family is planned for Monday, January 31, from 10:00 a.m. to noon at the Palestine United Methodist Church basement. All household items and anything in the clothing line are needed by the Hounshell family.

For information in regard to sizes and needs persons may call Mary Burken at 474-2342 or Ernestine Miller 474-8870.

Partly Cloudy

Partly cloudy tonight. Clear Wednesday. Lows tonight in the mid to upper teens. Highs Wednesday in the mid 30s. Winds becoming light and variable tonight. Precipitation chances 10 per cent through Wednesday.

Ray Linn Marshall

'Citizen of Year'

BENTON, Ky. — Benton funeral home owner Ray Linn Marshall has been honored as Marshall County's "citizen of the year."

Linn, founder and operator of Linn Funeral Home here since 1934, received the award at Saturday night's annual meeting of the county Chamber of Commerce at Ken-Bar Resort near Gilbertsville.

A businessman in Marshall County for 48 years, Linn has headed several civic and service organizations and organized the county's first rescue squad.

He also helped organize Benton's auxiliary police unit and served for several years as director of the county civil defense program.

While president of the Rotary Club, Linn led in the club's sponsorship of a helicopter pad at Benton Hospital, and the club paid for the pad's construction. The club also sponsored the hospital chapel.

Linn is a past president of the Benton Lions Club and is past master of T. L. Jefferson Masonic Lodge. He is one of two living deacons ordained when the First Missionary Baptist Church was organized, and remains an active deacon. He is a past Sunday school superintendent.

RAY LINN

Born in Marshall County, he was raised in the Almo community of Calloway County and graduated in 1929 from Almo High School. He then attended the Cincinnati College of Embalming before returning here to become a mortician.

He and his wife, Mrs. Rozell Hopkins Linn, have three children, John, of Benton, and daughters Mrs. Kay Baker and Mrs. Sandra Ford of Paducah. His sister, Mrs. Ora Mae Puckett, also resides in Paducah.

She Searches for That Perfect Fit

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There's only one chance in a million that you can help me with my problem, but I'll try anyway. I am a 28-year-old married woman who had polio as a child. Consequently I was left with one normal foot (size 6B) and one very small foot. (A child's size 2.)

Because of this, I've always had to buy two pairs of shoes. Obviously, I am left with two useless mismatched shoes. Is there a place where I can send my leftover shoes? Maybe someone needs just one shoe. I have a closet full of odd shoes that are of no use to me. Perhaps I can make some kind of exchange with someone who has my problem in reverse. I would be glad to buy the odd shoes that I need.

Thanks for any help you can give me, Abby.

MISMATCHED FEET

DEAR MIS: It's a shoe-in! I have a list of stores that sell (and exchange) odd shoes. Send me a stamped, addressed envelope, and I will send you the list.

DEAR ABBY: For a year I have dated a widower. (I am a widow.) We have a close, enjoyable relationship. However, he refuses to introduce me to his family, all of whom live nearby. They are not even aware of his dating. He becomes uncomfortable if seen in public with me.

When we go out, which is rare, we go to some out-of-the-way place, often miles from town. He comes to my apartment three or four times a week and calls me every day. He finds it difficult to say "I love you," yet I think he cares for me.

He has said flatly that he would never introduce me to his children and would never marry again.

He has met my children and family. He even traveled to another state to meet my mother. I'm beginning to wonder why I must be kept a secret.

I know this man is a widower. I read of his wife's death in the paper last year. What do you think the problem is? He means a great deal to me, but I think something is abnormal.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your widower friend has a hangup (it could be temporary) about appearing to "betray" the memory of his departed wife before his family. Tell him that such "secret" behavior will probably betray him in the end, and if it doesn't, well, who wants to be a backstreet ladyfriend?

DEAR ABBY: Recently you ran a letter from THE OTHER WOMAN in which she tells her lover's wife not to worry because she (the other woman) is too "decent" to take a married man away from his wife and children.

Well, I hope you will give equal space to A WIFE who has a message for THE OTHER WOMAN:

DEAR — I have known about my husband's little affair with you for quite some time, but if you think I'm going to give him up after 25 years, you are sadly mistaken. I enjoy the prestige of being a doctor's wife.

I was once a young nurse (as you are now), so if you're out to hook a wealthy doctor, I suggest you find a younger, unattached one and help him get started, the way I did.

Also, I think you should know that on the advice of his attorney, my husband put everything in my name in case he gets hit with a malpractice suit. So think it over, dear. Do you really want a tired, middle-aged man whose assets are in his wife's name? After all, we both know he's not all that great in bed.

Best regards,

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE

LIBRARY NOTES

From Margaret Trevathan

New books at the Calloway County Library include the following:

AMONG THOSE PRESENT, by Nancy Dickerson. Random.

Mrs. Dickerson relates in details the biggest stories she has been involved with in the last twenty-five years as Washington news reporter.

DISNEYANA, by Cecil Munsey. Hawthorn.

In this lavishly illustrated book, the author has provided an extensive coverage of both the merchandising history and the collectibles of Walt Disney Productions.

ORIENTAL RUGS, by Murray Eiland. New York Graphic.

Many color illustrations and a comprehensive text make this volume valuable to both the beginner and the veteran rug fancier.

SAINT PAUL, by Michael Grant. Scribner.

The man the author describes in this book is not a figure of myth but a person who has influenced people of widely divergent beliefs.

EARLY AMERICAN WOODEN WARE, by Mary E. Gould. Tuttle Co.

The author gives a well researched account of the origins, use, and manufacture of such items as cheese boxes, buckets, bowls and cups, troughs, and many other kitchen utensils.

CEREMONY OF THE INNOCENT, by Taylor Caldwell. Doubleday.

From a life of servitude in a small Pennsylvania town, Ellen Watson is catapulted into a life she was never prepared to live. A shattering epic of a woman and a nation — both betrayed by their own misplaced trusts.

WOMEN, MONEY AND POWER, by Phyllis Chesler. Morrow.

This is a realistic analysis of women's economic and political condition — and the authors solution to change it.

Magazine Club Will Not Meet Thursday

The Murray Magazine Club has cancelled its meeting scheduled for Thursday, January 27, due to inclement weather, according to a club spokesman.

The next meeting will be the annual February luncheon to be held at the Murray Woman's Club House.

Mr. and Mrs. Teddie A. McCuiston

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Johnson of Murray Route Eight announce the marriage of their only daughter, Kimberly Jan, to Teddie A. McCuiston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted W. McCuiston of Murray Route Eight.

The vows were solemnized at Corinth, Miss., in an early winter ceremony. Their attendants were Mrs. Helen McCuiston, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Dawn Kinsolving, sister of the groom.

The bride's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Stone of Murray Route One and Mrs. Obara Johnson of Murray Route Two. The groom's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ocie McCuiston of Murray Route Six and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Fink of College Park, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. McCuiston are now residing at their home on Murray Route Eight.

Mrs. Haley Is Honored With Shower Thursday

Mrs. Mike (LaDon) Haley was honored with a household shower on Thursday evening, January 20, at the Northside Baptist Church Fellowship room.

The gracious hostesses were Mrs. Sheila McGinnis, Mrs. Judy Jones, Mrs. Geraldine McClard, and Miss Jane Ann Turner who presented the honoree with a corsage of white carnations and a queen size bedspread.

The register table was overlaid with a red cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white flowers. Miss Turner presided at the register.

Games were played with Mrs. McGinnis as the director with Mrs. Ann Jones, Mrs. Lavalley Blakley, and Miss Jane Ann Turner as the winners of the prizes who they presented to the honoree.

After opening the many lovely gifts, refreshments of a variety of cookies, nuts, mints, and punch were served by the hostesses from a beautifully decorated table draped with a red lace cloth and centered with a red and white floral arrangement. The arrangement was flanked by three tiered crystal candle holders with red and white candles. Crystal appointments were used.

Fifty-two persons were present, and approximately forty-five persons sent gifts who were unable to attend.

Darning is a method of repairing small holes or tears in garments, using an imitation of reweaving or knitting. Darning may be done by hand or machine. For apparel, hand darning is usually more desirable, since inconspicuous stitches can be used. Machine darning is faster, but use it only where appearance does not matter. Tips on darning: —Choose a thread in the closet—possible color match. You may be able to use a self-thread drawn from the straight-edge seam allowance inside the garment. —Use a needle of suitable fineness and a short, single thread. Pulling long threads through fabric may draw damaged area out of shape. —Work from right side of fabric: Do not use knots in the thread—pull threads to wrong side instead. —Use small stitches. Draw darning thread through fabric rather than in and out of the material. Be careful not to draw thread too tight. —Dean Roper, Mayfield.

To cut the cost of housing, build them smaller, cut out a bathroom, don't include such things as fireplaces and other extras. The result should be a house selling for substantially under the average price of about $40,000 for new, single-family homes. ## Disabled Can 'Talk' With Symbols

By ROSEMARY SINGLETON
Kitchener-Waterloo Record
WATERLOO, Canada (AP) — Cameron Callas of Waterloo in Ontario province is a friendly, outgoing 22-year-old.

He likes people and enjoys communicating with them. But he has a problem.

Callas suffers from severe cerebral palsy. He has difficulty communicating verbally because he lacks the muscular coordination necessary for controlled movement and speech.

It has been frustrating — and isolating.
But last October this changed. A neighbor, Suzanne Stark, a teacher of the disabled, cracked the communication barrier. She introduced Callas to a substitute for the spoken word — a symbol board that enables him to express his wants and needs.

Blissymbols is a finger-pointing system designed to teach by symbols those unable to read. Under each symbol is written the corresponding word.

There is also a symbol for action that turns a noun into a verb. When the action symbol tops the word "mouth," it becomes the verb "to speak."
Similarly with the sign for legs: when topped with the action symbol it becomes the verb "to walk."

Callas and three other non-verbal people were the first physically-disabled adults in the Kitchener-Waterloo area to participate in the $26,358 Local Initiative Program (LIP) grant
project, spearheaded by Mrs.

Stark.
She was assisted in the eight-
month program by Audrey Gel-laty, Dorinda Keith, Jacqueline Maynes, Terri Romenco and Betsy Clark.

Prior to applying for the LIP grant, Mrs. Stark had been teaching six disabled adults spelling, reading, history and geography for the Kitchener-Waterloo Services for Physically Disabled Adults.

Because of a lack of facilities
when they were children, these adults could read very little or not at all. Callas, a member of the class, "was so enthusiastic
he rarely missed a lesson in four years." Being nonverbal, however, limited his answers to a simple "yes" or "no."

Mrs. Stark felt a better communication method could be developed for these adults, so she visited the Ontario Center for Crippled Children in Toronto to study the Blissymbols method of finger-pointing communication.

She found a champion in Shirley McNaughton, program director of the Blissymbols Foundation in Toronto. Mrs.
McNaughton pioneered the communication method at the crippled children's center in 1972.

The symbols were devised in 1942 by Austrian-born chemical engineer Charles Bliss to promote international understanding. He had no idea it would be nearly 30 years before the method would be used or that its first use would be by physically disabled

youngsters.
Mrs. Stark and her team of five found that the disabled adults responded well to the symbols method. Being able to "speak" eased their frustration.

Mrs. Stark noted that word boards were irregular in design and content. She did research on the subject and found a lack of standardization.

Mrs. Stark, with Mrs. Gel-laty and Clark, developed a series of word boards to adequately meet the emotional dynamics and social concerns of nonverbal adults who can read.

Using the name Basic Experimental Communication System Basecom, they devised
two types of boards which are currently under applied use at Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital.
The boards will eventually be available in French, German, Polish and Spanish.

The first board serves to relay primary physical and emotional messages and the second encompasses a wide range of physical, emotional and social areas of experience.

Blank spaces on the color-coded boards allow for addition of words meaningful to the particular person using them.

The research team found a need for a vocabulary to express grief, despair and hope so they added a "Good Grief" sec-

as a verbal person does," said Mrs. Stark.

Now that the LIP funds have run out the team is seeking further funding. "We're still working with our students. Just because we haven't funds, we can't desert them at this plateau of learning," the group's leader said.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry U.
Whayne, formerly of Murray,
recently returned to Taipei, Taiwan, after a two months
visit with their daughters, Lynn and Laura Whayne, and Mrs. Whayne's mother, Mrs.
Novella Butterworth, all of Murray. They also visited other relatives and friends in the area.

After living in Indonesia for the past two years, Dr.
Whayne was transferred to Taiwan where he will be for the next two years.
Enroute they spent two days
in Tokyo, Japan.

SOUND ADVICE

Winter Hearing Care
Because winter often brings low thermometer readings, icy winds and cold, wet snows,
the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation officials advise taking particular care in guarding against hearing loss problems.

The crusade is sponsored by Chicago-based Beltone Electronics Corporation, world leader in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments, and is designed to encourage meaningful hearing conservation programs.

Individuals who contract severe winter head colds and earaches can be exposed to serious hearing loss dangers,
the crusade officials stress.
The aftermath of such maladies can be serious and may even lead to permanent losses.

The crusade officials urge people to reduce the risk of winter illness by avoiding excessive exposure to extremely low temperatures and to exercise good judgment by not wearing wet clothing any longer than necessary.

Also winter sports fan
should exert particular care
to ensure they are not exposed to excessively cold or damp conditions while enjoying their favorite pastimes. This includes skiing, ice skating, tobogganing, snowmobiling
and ice fishing enthusiasts.

Although prevention is always preferable to a cure,
those who fall victim of a severe head cold or earache should seek medical attention.
People should never take winter maladies lightly," the crusade officials add.

The tulip originated in Central Asia and gets its name from the Turkish word for turban.

Miss Beverly Ann Pigman Is Wed To David Walton Ezell At Dixon

Miss Beverly Ann Pigman
and David Walton Ezell are residing in Murray following their honeymoon in Gatlin-burg, Tenn.

The couple was married
Sunday, January 2, in First Baptist Church, Dixon. The Rev. Dr. Don R. Mathis of Southside Baptist Church,
Princeton, and the Rev. Gary Shockley, Temple Baptist Church, Central City, performed the double-ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pigman of Dixon. The groom's parents are Mrs. Walean Ezell, Sherwood Drive, Hopkinsville,
and Walton G. Ezell, Hopkinsville Route Four.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Princeton, organist and soloist, Mrs. David Adams, pianist of Princeton, and Pam Churchill, soloist from Celveland, Ohio, provided the nuptial music.

The church altar was decorated in the center with baskets of white mums, each with a peach rosebud in the center and tied with blue ribbons. Two spiral candelabra were on each side of the satin kneeling bench and unity candles were entwined with greenery.

Bride's Dress
Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a princess style, A-line dress with a full train made of satin with the bodice and sleeves covered with lace and the skirt covered with organza trimmed in lace. Her waist-length veil of illusion was trimmed in lace and her headpiece was made of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of peach and white baby sweetheart roses with pieces of blue illusion and streamers. She carried the traditional "something old,
new, borrowed and blue."

Miss Wilma Pigman, Dixon, served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Nancy and Jennifer Pigman, Tracy Shockley was the flower girl.

The honor attendant and the flower girl were in floor-length dresses of blue. Bridesmaids were attired in floor-length dresses of blue, peach and cream. Each carried a long-stemmed mum with peach rosebud in the center tied with blue ribbons, and the flower girl carried a basket of rose petals.

Steve Hale, Fort Worth, Texas, served as the groom's best man. Ushers were Tim Langford, Fulton, and Gary

Eaton, Louisville. Chris
Braden, nephew of the bride,
was the ring bearer.

Reception
The reception followed in the educational building of the church.

The table was decorated with a lace cloth underlain with blue. It featured a silver punchbowl and silver candle holders. The cake was decorated with blue flowers
and topped with a miniature bridal couple. The bride's bouquet was used as a centerpiece.

Servers were Miss Jenny Rhoades, Owensboro, and Miss Susan McKinnis,
another shower.

Owensboro. Miss Linda Procter, Robards, kept the guest register.

Pre-Nuptial Events
The bride was honored with a personal shower hosted by Mrs. Gilbert Mathis, in Murray. The couple was also honored with a household and miscellaneous shower at Second Baptist Church,
Hopkinsville, hosted by Mrs.
Lucian Killebrew and Mrs.
Troy Sowell.

A household shower at Dixon was hosted by the Young Adult Class of First Baptist Church. The adult choir of Southside Baptist Church, Princeton, hosted
another shower.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

'ENERGY STAMP' PROGRAM ON TRIAL

REP. CHARLES W. WEAVER, JR.
(Ohio) "I would like to bring to our colleagues attention an interesting and innovative income-extension program,
that is being demonstrated in my district."

"The local Community Action Agency in Lorain County, Ohio,
has been sponsoring an experimental
'energy stamp' program, to assist low-income persons in meeting their home heating bills."

"This energy stamp project is one of only two such experiments in the country. The pilot project in Lorain

County is now funded by the Federal Community Service Administration
through its emergency energy conservation program. CSA's authority for such a program is not widely known,
but it does provide for innovative transfer payment programs of this type."

"The energy stamps which resemble and are used like travelers checks, are purchased on a 3-to-1 ratio so that an eligible participant can purchase $75
worth of energy stamps for $25 cash."

"Applicants must prove their eligibility on two specific counts — their very low income, plus high natural gas heating bills. Specifically, they must demonstrate that their income does not exceed the limits set by CSA — $5,500
annual income for a family of four."

"The applicant is also required to provide documents relating to their own difficulties in paying their utility bill. In this instance, the agency will accept a shutoff notice or an extraordinary late bill indicating that a shutoff notice is imminent."

"As should be expected, the majority of the applicants are elderly citizens
who must live on small, fixed income.
In fact, studies show that senior citizens
in many of our Northern States are compelled to allocate as much as one-third of their monthly social security payments to the cost of home heating in the winter."

"Of course, the basic concept, even
the title of an energy stamp program,
may lead to questions about the proper place of such a program within the Federal Government framework. This experiment in Lorain County, Ohio, should provide us with a lot of practical information that will be useful in evaluating the concept."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

If the energy stamp program is adopted by the Federal Government,
the food stamp fiasco should provide ample evidence that strict controls are in order.

Garrott's Galley New School 'Crisis' Hours Need Not Work A Hardship

By M. C. Garrott

Have the new 9 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.
'energy crisis' school hours upset the routine of things at your house as they have ours?

My grumble at first was, "What's the advantage of starting at 9 a. m. as compared with the usual 8 a. m. starting time just as long as classes were dismissed for the day at the end of the decreed 5½ hours?"

Our way, no Middle School bus comes anywhere close to us, so we've worked up a little car pool and the parents are taking turns taking the youngsters to school and picking them
up in the afternoon.

Last week was my week to take our 11-year-old, as well as Sandra Moody and Donna Lasater to school in the mornings. This was no problem when they went at 8 a. m. I just dropped them off on the way to work.

But now with the new hours, I am in much the same boat as a lot of other working parents: I go to work for about 35 minutes, then jump up, race home,
pick 'em up and take them to school.
Every time I've done it, I've also lost my parking place at the office, and finding a parking place at Murray State is no laughing matter.

To get some answers, I put some questions to Robert Glin Jeffrey, the principal at Middle School. "Why couldn't school start at 8 a. m. just as well as 9 and get out at 1:30 instead of 2:30 p. m.? Wouldn't that serve the same purpose?" I asked. "It would sure help those who have to be at work
before the youngsters are due at school."

"It could," Robert Glin replied. "It could, but we believe we are saving on heat (gas) more with the later hours
than with the earlier ones. Normally,
we turn the heat up about 6:45 a. m.
Now we are turning it up about 7:45."

"We also have found," he went on,
"that we use less heat later on in the morning than in the early hours of the day. Apparently, things warm up a bit
as we get into the day, and we require less heat."

That makes sense — good, timely sense.

Robert Glin went on to explain that any parents who are working and need to bring their youngsters to school before 8 a. m. are free to do so. The doors open at 7:20 a. m. and he's always there to watch out for early arrivals
until the teachers arrive.

He also went on to tell me that, if necessary, a youngster can get a pretty fair breakfast in the school's cafeteria for only 15 cents. His wife, Glenda, is the dietitian, and they have milk, orange juice, cereal, doughnuts and other sweets for the youngsters to choose from. Old West Ward School at Mayfield was never like that!

So, if you are a working parent and the new school hours are causing you inconvenience in getting your youngster or youngsters to school at 9 a.
m., don't be too upset. Go ahead and

The Editor's Notebook

By GENE McCUTCHEON

Murray Ledger & Times Editor

The annual federal budget, which undoubtedly will continue the spiral
that has soared toward the $500 billion mark, historically has been a source of pain for the White House agents who prepare it and the Congress which must implement it.

This year the agony will be compounded. Former President Ford submitted his program for fiscal 1978 spending. Now President Carter will have until Feb. 15 under new congressional requirements to present his version.

A Congress with heavy Democratic majorities will be more sympathetic naturally to the Carter proposals, but — even without the shadow of deadlines —
the ability of the Carter administration to make much of an imprint on the new budget must be questioned.

The Council of State Governments
estimates that no more than $10 billion,
about 2 per cent of the budget outlays
are subject to alteration.

The remainder is considered "uncontrollable" because of legislative decisions made over many, many years.

Nevertheless, Mr. Carter has stuck to his campaign pledge of a balanced budget by the end of his four-year term.

His confidence stems, apparently,
from his faith in zero-based budgeting,
a process under which spending programs must be reexamined and justified periodically.

But Mr. Carter must contend with an entrenched bureaucracy, which, like
the budget, is to a large extent beyond his control. Memories of other years and other pledges stir skepticism.

Real Estate People See Vigorous Year

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Real estate
people are looking for this year to be the most vigorous ever in sales of single-family dwellings, despite an anticipated rise in the median price of new homes to more than $50,000.

That expectation, from the National Association of Realtors, stands in sharp contrast to some other industrial forecasts that are hedged against the possibilities of rising interest rates and inflation.

The Realtors concede that inflation
will be apparent in the housing market, but no more so than in 1976. They forecast an 8 per cent rise for existing homes and a 10 per cent increase for newly built units.

The cost of mortgages, however, is expected to go the other way, falling during the first half of the year to 8.5
per cent before stabilizing and then probably inching higher. Rates last year generally were around 9 per cent.

The biggest spur to sales is expected to come from an even stronger existing home market. Last year close to 3 million such homes changed hands, and the Realtors expect sales this year to total 3.4 million.

The interest of Americans in homes previously occupied soared during the past few years but was almost noticed by some economists and others who had their eyes glued to the figures
on newly built homes.

A number of factors are behind the interest, including the higher cost of new homes, the greater spaciousness of some existing homes, the desire of some young couples to renovate units in mature neighborhoods.

In addition to higher sales for existing homes, the Realtors expect that about 1.3 million single-family homes will be

It is possible that the doubts could give way to enthusiasm if Mr. Carter would go even further and adopt a suggestion by economist Herbert Stein.

Stein advocates zero-based taxation,
"periodically forcing the government
to make an affirmative decision about the revenue it wishes to collect."

How about that for a campaign pledge?

O+O

How about those Murray State Racers? They've pulled their last two games out of the fire in the final seconds and are now tied with Austin
Peay for the OVC lead.

That tie will be broken this Saturday
when the Racers invade Clarksville for a showdown with APSU. It should prove to be an exciting contest.

Joe Crump's award-winning column,
"Low Down from the Congressional Record," is reappearing on this page today. Crump writes the column while Congress is in session and gives some insight into what's happening on Capitol Hill.

The column was recently awarded the "Liberty Award" by the Congress of Freedom, Inc., for the fourth consecutive year. Recipients of the award are persons "who have given consistent evidence of their loyalty to the basic principles of Americanism through sermons, public addresses, cartoons,
poetry, news columns, editorials, Americanist action, efforts in education, medicine, etc."

If you're not already a regular "Low Down" reader check out the column.
Crump's slogan is "Tell It As It Is."

started in 1977, making it the second-best year ever for this type of construction.

In all, said the Realtors, "American consumers will spend $220 billion to purchase nearly 4.7 million single-family homes, making this the best year ever for the single-family home market."

What astonishes some students of the housing market is that the surge comes in the face of higher prices — prices
that some of them had felt would rule out statistics such as those now forecast.

The median price of an existing home
— a resale home — is expected to rise
by 8 per cent, or about $3,000, to $42,000
by the end of the year. New homes are expected to rise nearly 10 per cent,
surpassing the $50,000 mark.

While some young couples are relying on loans from their parents in order to meet the increasingly large down payments required, some buyers are benefiting from a relaxation of mortgage money restraints.

The thrift industry, made up of savings banks and savings and loan associations, had record high deposits
in 1976, and is expected to be in a strong position to lend throughout 1977.

White business and government borrowing is expected to absorb some of the excess funds, perhaps nudging interest rates higher near the end of the year, the funds available to housing are expected to be more than adequate.

Isn't It The Truth

What is civilization? It is an excuse to forsake the forest for the freeway, the bell for the siren, peace for conflict and the bellyache for ulcers.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 25, the 25th day of 1977. There are 340 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1915, transcontinental telephone service was inaugurated in the United States. Inventor Alexander Graham Bell spoke the first words over a line from New York to San Francisco.

On this date:

In 1802, Napoleon Bonaparte became president of the Italian Republic.

In 1863, during the American Civil War, the first black regiment in the U.S. Army was formed.

In 1944, the World War II battle for Cassino in Italy began.

Letters To The Editor

Contributions Appreciated

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Kidney Foundation of Kentucky, I want to recognize and personally thank all of those volunteers who devoted their time and efforts knocking on doors during the recent fund-raising campaign in Murray. I also want to thank all of you who supported the Kidney Foundation of Kentucky, recognizing the need to reduce and hopefully eliminate a disease which is this country's fourth major health problem.

You can be sure that your contributions will be utilized to assist kidney patients and their families in Murray. It would not be possible to conduct vital research, provide essential patient services, organize public and professional programs

without your full support.

The Kidney Foundation is dedicated to improving and enriching the lives of kidney patients and their families,
while seeking cures for the many types
of kidney disease.

Again, thank you for contributing to a successful, educational fund-raising drive in Murray.

Sincerely,
Terry Given, Executive Director
Kidney Foundation of Kentucky

Blood Bank Says Thanks

Dear Editor:

Each year, during the month of January, the American Association of Blood Banks along with its 2000
member banks salute the many volunteer donors who have given blood during the year. It is with the support of you, the blood donor, that the Murray-Calloway County Hospital Blood Bank
has been able to provide this community with all its blood needs during the past year. You provide a life sustaining substance, one that is needed by hundreds of people in our community.

Special appreciation is due the Murray Lions Club for their continuing support of the program. Also a special thanks to the Fisher Price Co. who when necessary is always willing to allow their employees to donate blood
during working hours. We appreciate the many Murray State University

Student Organizations who are active in the program along with other businesses and organizations too numerous to mention.

We also thank the many people who donate individually. A special thanks to those who donate on a regular basis and especially those who have reached the one gallon mark since the beginning of the program. We can always rely upon these repeat donors when emergency situations arise.

Each blood donor should be proud of his participation in this very necessary program, and we the entire staff of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital
Blood Bank salute you.

Sincerely,
David Walker M. T. (ASCP)
Chief Medical Technologist
Murray-Calloway County Hospital
Blood Bank

Let's Stay Well

Inability To Tolerate Milk

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q: Mrs. T.K. writes that her 6-year-old son has abdominal cramps and diarrhea whenever he drinks milk. Her physician tells her that the disease is inherited and incurable because the child lacks something to help him digest milk. He also says that no medicine will be helpful
and that her son should avoid milk.

Mrs. T.K. wants to know something about such a disease, especially whether it can lead to complications and shorten her son's life.

A: Your son probably has been born with a lactase deficiency. Lactase is an enzyme that usually is formed in the ining cells of the small intestine

and that serves to break down
the sugar (lactose) in milk so that it is digested and absorbed.

When the enzyme is missing,
the milk sugar remains unabsorbed
by the intestine. The bacteria in it cause the sugar to break down and draw water out of the blood into the bowel to produce diarrhea. Also, an excess of gas in the bowel may form
and bring about cramping.

Lactase deficiency is supposed to be more common among blacks and some Orientals, though the condition may be just as common in others, but goes unrecognized.

The condition is usually worse

during infancy and childhood.
Many who have the trouble
early in life appear to outgrow it as they get older.

Lactase deficiency will not shorten life or lead to other complications.

No medicine is effective.
Treatment consists of avoiding milk and milk products. An adequate diet without them can be obtained and can provide both relief and proper nutrition.

Influenza B Is Confirmed In D. C.

By JACK STILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

A survey of state health departments across the country by The Associated Press showed on Monday that there have been confirmed cases of Influenza B in ten states and the District of Columbia so far this winter.

A spokesman for the national Center for Disease Control said there was no data upon which to judge how large this year's outbreak of flu-like illnesses is compared with earlier years because the illnesses have not been studied systematically before.

But Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the CDC, indicated that the number of flu-like illnesses being reported to the center was not large.

Sencer said the long-established disease surveillance network, which includes disease monitoring through state health departments and 120 cities, indicates that there is no significant flu outbreak.

Influenza B is similar to the B-Hong Kong virus that caused 12,700 deaths in the epidemic of 1968-69, officials said.

Influenza B is different from Influenza A in that the virus does not change its molecular structure as often as the latter, and thus it usually attacks children and young adults because they are less immune. Its mortality rate is not as high as Influenza A.

The swine flu, which officials feared would be widespread this winter, is a strain of A-type influenza. That fear prompted the now suspended national swine flu vaccination program.

About 400 students at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., had been treated for flu-like illnesses through Monday, officials of the student health center reported. About 40 of those cases over the past week have been tested and found to be type B flu, they said.

The Colorado Department of Health confirmed that the B-type flu was responsible for illness to an undetermined number of persons in the state's Grand and Summit counties last week.

Dr. Robert Fontaine, a Colorado health department epidemiologist, said there were 390 cases of flu-like illness reported from Grand County and another 100 cases from Summit County.

He said so far this year, without counting the recent illnesses in the two counties and in the small mountain community of Eagle, there have been 1,900 unconfirmed, flu-like illnesses across Colorado.

This compared with 613 cases of flu-like illnesses in the state for the first 24 days of January 1976, said Dr. Fontaine.

The Associated Press survey showed cases of type B influenza also confirmed in Georgia, California, Michigan, Alaska, South Carolina, North Carolina, Louisiana and the District of Columbia. Earlier it was reported that lab tests had confirmed some cases of B-type flu in Pennsylvania.

Swine flu, known as A-New Jersey, has been confirmed in Wisconsin and Minnesota — all of the cases were associated with hog farming.

Newsman Have The Right To Check Grocery Prices

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A Lexington television station whose reporters are checking comparative food prices has been told that the newsmen have the right to do so under certain ground rules.

Asst. Atty. Gen. H. Regina Cullen said the reporters cannot be arbitrarily excluded from a store without reasonable grounds.

"Such a reasonable basis might be maintenance of normal operations, protection of property or preventing harassment of other store employees or patrons," she said.

The advice, without force of law, went to Rich Gimmel, news director of television station WTVQ.

"The rights of a reporter must be viewed in the same light as those of any other member of the public," the opinion said.

There has been no incident involving eviction of a reporter, Gimmel said Monday, "but we're anticipating the possibility and wanted some sort of legal opinion to back us up."

He said the station has started a regular check of major food chain stores in the Lexington area to compare Lexington and Louisville "market basket" prices.

Gimmel said a gap has been left by the state Council for Economic Advisers, which used to conduct such surveys but ran out of funds.

"So far our people have gotten some funny looks, but nobody has been thrown out," Gimmel said.

Dona Rains, a newswoman for the Anderson News in Lawrenceburg, was told in another opinion that she cannot obtain a court's disposition of a juvenile case.

Ms. Rains said she did not want the youngster's name or to sit in on hearings, but merely the outcome of the case.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Chenoweth said the case may not be made public.

In another opinion, Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter Herdman said the Fraternal Order of Police Chapter in Lexington may endorse political candidates, although individual officers are banned from active campaigning.

He added that if the group were incorporated, it would be prohibited from providing any money or services to a candidate.

The advice went to Harold Slone, a Lexington lawyer. Herdman told Boyd

Holbrook of Auxier that a state Education Department employee cannot run for county magistrate and remain a state worker if he is under the merit system.

On the other hand, he said, if the employee is exempt from the merit system, he could seek office without resigning the position.

No More Limousines For Key Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's determination to reduce pomp at the White House will force his key aides to join the rest of the world in solving the problem of how to get to work.

Carter decided Monday that no chauffeured limousines will pick up his ranking aides at their homes and take them in style to the office.

Instead, they'll be encouraged to form car pools, which will have special parking privileges at the White House.

In the Ford administration, 13 top aides got rides to work. Under President Nixon, the figure was about 20.

Press Secretary Jody Powell said he could not say how much the reduction of the White House motor pool from 56 cars to 36 will save. He said the money involved was not as important to Carter as the symbolism of the gesture.

"If the President and the Administration intend, as we do, to call on other parts of the executive branch to make reductions, and to call on the American people to make individual sacrifices, it is certainly incumbent upon us to make similar reductions," Powell said.

Powell said he himself has been taking cabs to work and will start using his 1966 Volkswagen as soon as it can be brought up from Atlanta.

There will still be limousines for Cabinet members, and White House cars with drivers will be available for staff members who need to travel about the city during working hours, Powell said.

Psittacosis, or parrot fever, is an infectious disease transmitted to man by various types of birds. Although it is thought to be transmitted chiefly by parrots, it can also be spread by parakeets, pigeons and turkeys.

Leffler Scores 38, Hill 32 As Jayvees Gain Win

There really isn't such a thing as a junior varsity team at Murray State.

But don't tell Western Kentucky's jayvees that.

Western's jayvees, which included a couple of people who had started varsity earlier in the season for the Hilltoppers, fell 91-86 to Murray Monday night in the preliminary game at Diddle Arena.

Racer assistant coach Jim Calvin took six players, gave them some good coaching, some faith and from there, they took over.

It was hip and tuck for most of the first half until late in the period when Western pulled away and moved out to a 49-42 lead at intermission.

But in the second half, behind the brilliant play of Tom Leffler and Duncan Hill, the Racers began pecking away at the lead.

Midway through the half, Murray took the lead when Leffler crashed to the basket for an offensive rebound and the Racers never looked back again.

Leffler, a 6-5 sophomore workhorse, fired in a game-high 38 points in an awesome effort. He hit 10 of 16 from the field, 18 of 21 from the free throw line and hauled in 17 rebounds.

Hill, a 6-3 guard from Louisville Central, fired in 32 points. He hit nine of 16 from the floor and a remarkable 15 of 15 from the free throw line. Hill, only a freshman, showed outstanding poise and leadership ability.

Freshman Darrell "Pirate" Willett, who shot only nine times in the game, hit on four from the field and hauled down 10 rebounds in an outstanding effort. Junior guard Glen Jackson of Murray added eight points and five rebounds.

Junior Mike Brown, who shot just four times in the game, rounded out the scoring with four points and hauled off eight rebounds. John Homan played but did not score.

The jayvees, who never get to practice together or run plays, will get a couple of more chances to see playing time as they will play the Western jayvees next month here in a preliminary game and may possibly play a few more league teams.

Wildcats Put On Show In Romping By Rebels

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Score one—a big one—for the Kentucky bench. Just look at the box score.

Humiliated as they were, the Mississippi Rebels' starting five outscored Kentucky's starters by three points and that ought to win a basketball game. Right?

Wrong.

Defeated 100-73 Monday night the Mississippi starting five outscored Kentucky 65-62 but, unfortunately, the sixth-ranked Wildcat substitutes turned in a spectacular 36-8 dominance to insure an overwhelming triumph.

Consider such facts:

Only two Mississippi substitutes scored from the field—Jim Varner and Tom Warda, with two baskets each. None of the Reb subs even got to the free throw line.

Meantime, Kentucky's Lavon Williams hit five of six as did James Lee, while Tim Stephens was two-for-five and Dwane Casey connected on two of three.

Kentucky's Truman Claytor missed his only shot and Merion Haskins, who played only nine minutes, didn't try any.

The effect of it all was that Mississippi's starting five beat Kentucky 65-62 while Kentucky's substitutes won the ball game with a 36-8 count.

In the meantime Jack Givens, who led Kentucky's scoring with 19 points became the 16th highest scorer in the University's history, now with 1,173 points with a season and a half to go.

At his present scoring rate, he will finish his career at least fourth on a scoring list that is certainly the best in the Southeastern Conference.

Kentucky seemed befuddled early against a pressing Mississippi offense and fell behind by four points five times in a row before tying the score at 12-12 with 14:23 left in the first half.

The Wildcat shooting improved at that point, once setting a six point advantage, but Mississippi knotted the game again at 20, 22 and 24.

From that point, the Kentucky dominance overwhelmed the Rebels and within five minutes Kentucky was ahead by 12. Three minutes later it was 16 and the second half was a romp.

The victory was Kentucky's 13th of the season against two losses—both of them at home—and set the Wildcats at 6-1 in the Southeastern Conference. Mississippi now is 7-9 over-all and 1-6 in conference play.

Michigan Coach Takes Credit As His Club Rallies For Win

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
"Why are we 14-1?" asked Michigan basketball Coach Johnny Orr.

"Darned good coaching," replied Michigan basketball Coach Johnny Orr.

Orr's latest effort was a 92-81 Big Ten Conference victory over Ohio State Monday night—at Columbus, Ohio, no less.

With 2:14 to go in the second half, Orr found his second-ranked Wolverines trailing 81-80. The natives were howling for an upset by the Buckeyes, so it was time for some of that good coaching.

"We showed real poise when the crowd went wild," Orr said. "We brought it right back to them."

Michigan brought it back, thanks to their three-guard offense of Steve Grote, Ricky Green and Dave Baxter.

"Our three-guard offense gave us good defense," said Orr, in an understatement.

The Wolverines held Ohio State scoreless from that point on while hitting 12 points themselves—six by Baxter and five by center Phil Hubbard—clinching their seventh straight Big Ten victory. Hubbard finished

FAR WEST

Weber St 86, Stanislaus St 57

Monday night Coach Miller took his Tigers to Mayfield and Murray posted a 62-59 victory over a very tough Mayfield team that had played two games in Louisville this past weekend.

"We had the long lay-off, but we practiced quite a bit and really worked on the defense," Miller said. "What we had here tonight was a real team effort."

Mayfield drew first blood on baskets tallied by Joey Shelton and David Youngblood and the Cards went up by four. They retained the lead for all of one minute as the Tigers came storming back with successive baskets by Raymond Sims and the score was tied 4-4 with 5:10 remaining in the first quarter.

The Cards were not to see the lead again until the fourth quarter.

Both teams played rugged defense. The Tigers really "hung in there" against their taller opponents but were only out-rebounded by 40-38.

"When it really got tough we knew we had to go to the boards," Miller stated. "Lindsey Hudspeth had 12 rebounds and that is indicative of the kind of basketball our team played tonight."

Although the Tigers never held a convincing lead they managed to keep the Cards in the position of having to play "catch-up" basketball. Several times Mayfield "caught-up" only to have the Tiger push the lead away by a few points and the situation was repeated.

At the half the Tigers held a five point lead at 34-29 and headed for the dressing room knowing full well that the Cards were going to pull out all the stops in the second half. Anyone that has lived in Murray for just a little while knows that Mayfield wouldn't accept a loss in checkers if the other team was Murray and in basketball or football the situation is just that much worse.

In the third quarter Mayfield whittled away at the Murray lead. The Tigers let up a little and with 2:25 left Mayfield had closed the gap to 38-37. But the Tigers came back and the quarter ended with Murray back on top by five at 44-39.

With 6:11 left in the fourth quarter the Tigers had pushed the lead out to 48-41, not a commanding lead as the next few minutes would show.

The next two minutes saw the Cards outscore the Tigers 8-2 and the score was a very close 50-49 with 4:46 remaining in the game.

At 4:05 left the Tigers really became aggressive under the boards. In the space of a few seconds the super aggressive Tigers took eight shots at the basket, controlled all the rebounds and, finally, were treated to another bucket by Sims along with a foul. Give Sims two and one from the line.

"Raymond had a super night for us," Miller said. "He put the ball up 21 times and came away with 14 baskets and one from the stripe. What else can you say?"

With 29 points Raymond Sims lead all scorers and he didn't care where he got his points. Some of them came on driving lay-ups but most were from the outside as the basketball seemed to have eyes and found the basket from 12, from 15, and, a time or two, from 20-plus feet out. Yeah, Ray Sims had a super night and his teammates were there to lay on all the help they could muster.

"All seven people that played had a hand in this victory," Coach Miller stated. "It had to be a great team effort because we were in against a really fine team and they played a great game in spite of our best efforts."

As the clock wound down under one minute the tension began to build as the Cards managed to tie the score again at 59-59 with 57 seconds left.

With possession of the ball and 57 seconds to kill Mayfield went to the four corners and prepared for the last shot and, hopefully, the victory.

Sims had other ideas and he stole the ball and laid it up for two and the Cards were down 59-61 and a possible tie with just seconds showing on the clock. The tie was not to be.

With ball back in play Mayfield blew a wide open lay-up and Perry got the rebound and drove the length of the floor for a lay-up only to find out that he had been fouled at the other end of the floor.

Murray ended the game by three at 62-59 and a hard-fought and well deserved win over the rugged Red Birds from Mayfield.

Mayfield coach, Bob Sparks, said it all, "We had our chances. The last shot was ours and we blew the wide-open shot. We just didn't do it when we had to and we really did have the chance to put it away."

With the loss, Mayfield is 6-5 on the season while Murray High is 7-1 and faces Fulton County Tuesday night followed by Calloway County Saturday night.

TAKE THAT!!—John Randall (21) of the Racers leaps high into the air to bat away a shot by Steve Ashby of Western. Under the bucket are Mike Muff and Jimmy Warren. Seconds after this picture was taken, Warren raced down the court and put up a 20-footer that gave the Racers their double overtime win at Western.

GAME OF INCHES—Look closely. It's really hard to tell what happened isn't it? Zach Blasingame of the Racers hit this shot early in the game. It cleared the hands of Western's Aaron Bryant by no more than an inch. And in a two-point, double overtime game, just think about how important that inch was.

There are a million ways to say it. And to say it the best is impossible.

Perhaps the best way to say it is to do it honestly.

HONESTLY: Yes, there was somebody watching over Murray State University. Who?

Everybody loves everybody. We believe in each other and more than anything else, we believe in prayer," said Danny Jarrett.

Jarrett was still crazy. So were the sportswriters, so were the fans. And why shouldn't everyone be crazy for once in their lives?

There was no way Murray State University should have defeated Western Kentucky University in Diddle Arena Monday night. There was no way, yet...the Racers managed to escape in double overtime with an 89-87 win.

There were things that happened that don't happen on basketball courts. Yet, they happened.

With 17 seconds left in regulation play, Murray trailed Western 65-61 and people were leaving Diddle Arena, wrapping their red towels around them to protect themselves from the chill of the night.

But there was one thing the red towels wouldn't protect against. John Randall.

How in the world John Randall manages to do something inhuman in almost every game is beyond imagination. But he did.

"If I tip the ball in on a jump ball, will it count?" Randall asked an official as he stepped in the lane with 17 seconds left.

Racer Players

To Meet With Fans Wednesday

A basketball appreciation dinner for the Murray State Racers will be held at Paglia's Pizza Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

Members of the Racers will be on hand, along with players and coaches, at 5:30 p.m. and will be available for pictures and autographs.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. and anyone buying a meal will receive a free drink for Paglia's, who is sponsoring the get-acquainted dinner.

After dinner, Coach Fred Overton will speak about the team and discuss the future of basketball at Murray State. Overton will also be available

Ripley's Believe It or Not wouldn't have believed. John Randall tipped the ball on a jump ball. It counted and Murray trailed by two.

Then Mike Muff stole the ball. He hit two free throws after being fouled and the game was tied.

And with just five seconds left, Muff was fouled again after the Racers stole the ball. His two free throws gave Murray a 67-65 lead but at the buzzer, sophomore transfer

Aaron Bryant of Western hit from 10 feet and sent the game into overtime.

Honestly, there is no way to put into words what Murray State University did. For 13 years, the Racers had not won at Diddle Arena. They stared adversity in the face and came away victorious.

They were down, and counted out, just like Saturday night at the Sports Arena when the Racers trailed Middle Tennessee by six points with 36 seconds left yet, somehow, came back to win.

After Bryant's shot at the buzzer at the end of regulation play seemingly took the wind from the Racers' sail, Murray came right back again.

Down 75-71 with 31 seconds left in the first overtime, senior forward Zach Blasingame pulled his way inside and hit on a three-point play to cut the Western lead to one.

With 20 seconds left, Western all but cinched the win as Casey Cebula hit on a layup to give the Hilltoppers a 77-74 lead. But still, quit, no!!!

With 18 seconds left, Randall was fouled. His first free throw went in, his second one went off and Western had the ball with a two-point lead.

With 10 seconds left, Tom Shinn was fouled and stepped to the line with two free throws and a chance to put the game away for Western. Shinn choked. He missed both free throws and the Racers got the ball.

And with just three seconds left, freshman Lenny Barber, who looks too little to play college ball, gunned in a 20-foot jumper and the time had run out and the score was tied again at 77-77.

"When I shot it, I was just looking at the clock and trying to get a good, open shot. I shot off balance but I knew it was going in," Barber smiled.

In the second overtime, there was no doubt. It was all Murray.

The Racers zipped to an 85-81 lead with two consecutive inside shots by Blasingame. Western forced ties at 85 and 87 but still, you somehow got the feeling Murray had gone too far to lose.

After Mike Prince had hit a 15-footer with just 15 seconds left to tie the game, the Racers got the ball and worked it down the floor.

Junior college All-American Jimmy Warren then jacked up a 15-footer from the left corner and hit nothing but net. By the time the ball hit the floor, the horn had sounded and there was a wild celebration at midcourt.

There were 22 ties in the game, 13 times the lead changed hands.

Most people thought the game was over with 9:09 left in regulation play when senior captain Grover Woolard got his fifth foul of the game. At the time, Murray led 55-54.

But for the next 20 minutes, Woolard showed more leadership on the bench than what most captains show on the floor as he was constantly up beside head coach Fred Overton and assistant coach Jim Calvin, yelling instructions and encouragement.

Who was the hero? Barber, Randall, Blasingame, Muff, Warren, Jarrett, Donnell Wilson or Woolard?

Everyone was a hero, including the fans who made the trip to Bowling Green.

Muff had 23 points and 11 rebounds in his best effort of the season. Blasingame, also having his best game of the year, had 21 points and seven rebounds.

Jimmy Warren, who hit the game-winning shot, scored 19 points from the long range while Randall had 12 points, 10 rebounds and four assists.

Blasingame was simply unbelievable. Trip after trip down the floor, he was ridden and beaten under the boards. But trip after trip, Blasingame stuck with it.

"When Grover fouled out, he told us to hang in there and get this one for him and myself. We had never beaten Western since me and Grover have been here," Blasingame said.

"We kept it together. We even held hands at the outset of the second overtime," Blasingame added.

Muff said it was the most exciting game in which he has ever played.

Sunday afternoon, Jimmy Warren went out to practice, on the advice of Jim Calvin, and shot 100 extra shots from the field.

"Coach Calvin told me it would help. And I knew as soon as I shot that last shot of the game, it was going in," Warren added.

As happened last Saturday, the Racers rose from the dead, and again, as last Saturday, even the people on the bench were heroes.

With the win, the Racers go to 13-4 overall and 5-1 in the league, leaving them in a two-way tie with Austin Peay for the lead. Murray will meet Austin Peay Saturday in Clarksville and there will be plenty of tickets available at the door.

Tip By J. J. Should Make Ripley's

What else is there to be said?

Time and time again Monday night in Diddle Arena, Murray State University was beaten. But time and time again, they didn't pay any attention to what was almost a fact.

Just like last Saturday when the Racers pulled off a miracle over Middle Tennessee, people were breathless. There was hardly any emotion left in the fans after a wild celebration at midcourt.

Ah, but Jimmy Warren. "I played 48 minutes?" Warren asked. "I didn't know that," he smiled.

Someone asked him if he felt like playing 48 more minutes.

"I'd go out and do it right now, play anybody because we could beat them," Warren grinned.

It was time for the jump ball under the Racer basket and there were 17 seconds left in regulation play as Western led 65-61.

You will hear about the play for years and years. And unless you were there, you will never believe it, no matter where you read it or no matter who tells you.

John Randall walked over to the official and put his arm around the man in stripes. John nodded his head and grimly walked back toward the circle, knowing all the time he was going to go up for the jump ball and tip it right in the basket.

It was purely magic. At first, the fans in Diddle Arena booed because the basket was allowed. There were even a few arguments on press row.

But yes, it did count. Even Western coach Jim Richards had no complaint about that. And then suddenly, after everyone realized the basket was indeed good, there were a few oohs and ahs and 99.99 per cent of the fans had just witnessed something they had never seen in their lives.

It was by far more impressive than his two slam-dunk rebounds at Morehead earlier this month.

Duncan Hill: "Man, we just played a hell of a game. That's all, everybody played that kind of game."

Darrell Willett: "During the game, I told myself we were going to win by two points. But then I got superstitious and decided if I told anyone, it might not be a smart move. I didn't want to jinx us."

Tom Leffler: "We were down last year and never got any breaks. This year, we're winning the tight ones and we are getting the breaks. That's a championship ballclub for you."

Most people had highly underestimated Western Kentucky.

With a healthy 6-10 Lloyd Terry in the lineup along with 6-7 transfer jumping jack Aaron Bryant, the Hilltoppers are easily 15 or 20 points better than they were at the start of the conference season.

There is one thing you can mark in your little black book: Western is going to beat some people in Diddle Arena. They are definitely going to hurt one of the top teams in the league.

But, it can't be Murray.

Win or lose Saturday in Clarksville, you now have learned a lesson from the last two games.

Never count Murray State out.

To win at Austin Peay might be more difficult than to roller skate in a buffalo herd, as the old song by Roger Miller used to go.

But if the Racers are going to do it, this is the time. The fans in Austin Peay have not been turning out to support their club. Austin Peay has drawn no larger crowd than 6,000 in Dunn Center, which seats 9,000.

Saturday night, there will be tickets available for Murray State fans. And if the Racers can go to Western and win with less than 100 fans cheering for them, anything could happen in Clarksville if a couple of thousand Racer fans show up for the game.

for a question-answer series with the fans.

This will be an informal meeting and a great opportunity to meet and talk with the team.

Reservations for the dinner are advisable. For reservations, call 753-2975.

TENNIS

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—Tim Wilkinson defeated Australian Dale Collins 6-2, 6-2 and advanced to the final of the Northshore Open Tennis Tournament.

AMBIDEXTROUS JOHN—John Randall doesn't have any problem shooting the ball when he drives for the hoop. From 15 feet out, he can use either the left or right hand. Here, he takes it up with the left hand on a drive as teammate Mike Muff (4) tries to get in rebound position.

Brown To Discuss Ways Of Cutting Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — After telling Pentagon officials that he tentatively plans to cut their budgets by about $2.8 billion, Defense Secretary Harold Brown is to tell the Senate Armed Services Committee how he plans to do it.

Brown was scheduled to appear before the committee today and members of the panel were expected to question him on how the Carter administration hopes to reduce military spending while maintaining a U.S. defense posture second to none.

Two weeks ago Brown told the panel "it's not going to be easy" to squeeze $5 billion to $7 billion from the final Ford administration defense budget. He said such cuts might not be made until the new administration's first full budget year, 1979, but that such a saving is the administration's goal.

Since Brown's confirmation hearing, the Ford administration submitted its record defense budget for fiscal 1978, totalling $123 billion in spending authority. And, before surrendering power, the Ford administration told Congress the United States must steadily strengthen its forces in coming years to prevent Russia from becoming the world-dominant military power.

Brown moved toward budget cuts last Friday, the same day he was sworn in as defense secretary.

Acting on the basis of studies and recommendations by President Carter's defense transition team, Brown proposed reductions in more than 30 programs, including slowdowns and stretchouts in some major nuclear weapons programs, cutbacks in some aircraft and Navy shipbuilding plans, and a 10,000-man reduction in Army strength.

The armed services were given an opportunity to argue against the proposed cuts, which would hit some of their most cherished programs.

Pentagon sources said the reductions outlined by Brown would come principally from the final Ford administration budget, but also from the current fiscal year's $112.8 billion budget.

To the surprise of the Air Force, Brown did not list cancellation of the controversial B1 bomber, although he proposed reducing the number of advance bombers to be built next year from eight to five.

However, Brown would delay for at least a year full scale development of the big MX missile, intended to replace the present generation Minuteman missiles in the mid-1980s.

Under the Brown proposal research would be pushed on ways of making the MX mobile to guard it against a surprise Soviet knockout strike.

The Air Force's new F15 fighter, which showed a big cost jump last year, would be cut 25 per cent or about $430 million next year.

The Army was notified that Brown believes about 10,000 men can be trimmed from a projected strength of 790,000. This met immediate Army opposition. The generals contend Army troop strength is now close to its lower limits if it is to be able to handle its assigned mission.

The Navy faces possible loss of funds to start its first strike cruiser and reduction of its advanced warship programs, a hydrofoil boat and an air cushion vessel.

MLA AWARD — Jonathan Culler has recently been awarded the Modern Language Association's James Russell Lowell Prize, a $1,000 cash award given for an outstanding literary or linguistic study.

Culler, currently a university lecturer in French and Fellow and Tutor of Brasenose College, Oxford University, won the award for his book "Structuralist Poetics: Structuralism, Linguistics, and the Study of Literature."

Culler was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1944 and was raised in North Haven, Conn. He will be Professor of English and Comparative Literature at Cornell University starting in September 1977.

Pedestrians Pose Problem on River

By BILL VALE

Associated Press Writer CINCINNATI (AP) — It wasn't much of a day for a stroll, but several hundred persons went for a promenade on the Ohio River Sunday causing a traffic problem for river traffic.

Police on both sides of the river were powerless to stop the promenaders since neither Cincinnati, Ohio, or Covington, Ky., has any jurisdiction on the river, although it technically belongs to Kentucky.

The strollers blocked the progress of a 12-barge tow being pushed upriver by the City of Pittsburgh before straggling off the ice.

"People were strung out like a picket fence from the very young who could hardly walk to the old people," said Capt. W. A. Boudreaux, Houma, La., aboard the City of Pittsburgh.

He said he called Cincinnati and Covington police through the marine operator when the walkers ignored his whistle and loudspeaker warnings to get off the ice.

"Well, what came up to my mind was they are more stupid than I am," he drawled afterward. Boudreaux said he shut down when he got within 50 feet of the walkers who "cussed us out for trying to run them off the ice."

The towboat was pushing 12 barges in double tandem stretching 105-foot across and 1,100 long. The barges were the first to go up river past

Cincinnati last Monday. Boudreaux said he was delivering petroleum products, fuel and lubricants, to Pittsburgh, Pa., from Cairo, Ill.

He was followed by another two carrying empty propane barges. Both were "bulling" their way through the ice.

Boudreaux said his tow cracked the river ice from shore to shore.

Police officials were anxious to prevent a disaster. "If someone had fallen through the ice, we couldn't have got the emergency equipment through to save them," said a Cincinnati police officer.

Covington Mayor George Wermeling said Covington is involved in a suit to annex the river "but right now we have no jurisdiction and all we can do is warn people of the danger of walking on the ice."

John Beatty, a salvage operator, tried to help talk people off the ice from aboard his large boat.

"The darn fools wouldn't get out of the way," he said. "I have never seen anything like this and I've been on the river for 50 years."

"One guy asked me to show my bill of sale for the river when I told him to get his kids off."

"I've never seen a barge tow stopped by pedestrians," Beatty said.

Beatty, who has been breaking up ice around local marinas since Tuesday, said the ice varies in thickness from one to 14 inches. He also said the ice underneath has a mushy quality probably from heated water dumped into the river from industries.

"I think when this goes it will go fast," he said.

Freeze To Raise Citrus, Vegetable Prices

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — From Florida oranges to Florida tomatoes, consumers will have to pay more after word that last week's freeze destroyed nearly all the state's winter vegetables and almost half its citrus crop for losses exceeding $250 million.

As damage estimates mounted Monday, Gov. Reubin Askew asked the federal government to declare the state an agriculture disaster area.

The rest of the East, thawing but threatened by further cold and snow today, struggled with crippling natural gas shortages and frozen waterways blocking transport of fuel and supplies.

President Carter was reported considering removing federal price controls on natural gas in an effort to ease a situation that has "closed schools to 40,000 students and caused layoffs of more than 500,000 workers."

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland said he would visit Florida this week to review the damages. A disaster declaration from Bergland would make growers eligible for special low-cost loans.

An aide said Askew also was considering asking Carter to help freeze-idled migrant workers with special unemployment compensation, rent or mortgage assistance and transportation aid.

Askew issued a state declaration of disaster Saturday, directing state and local agencies to cut red tape so migrants could get such welfare assistance as food stamps.

Frank Pope, chairman of the U.S. Agriculture Department's Florida Emergency Board, which met here Monday, said vegetable crop losses would amount to "at least $100 million" and his initial estimate of citrus losses was $150 million.

The freeze will have an impact on consumer prices throughout the country, the board said. Industry sources said prices of a 6-ounce can of frozen orange juice concentrate would rise from an average of 22 cents to 31 cents.

The chief crisis facing other states is fuel, primarily natural gas. The Federal Power Commission said plant shutdowns because of gas cutoffs were most severe in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes declared a statewide natural gas emergency. Schools and businesses scattered around the state have had to close, and the situation worsened Monday when Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., the state's biggest supplier, announced a series of new industrial and commercial curtailments.

Columbia Gas of Pennsylvania said Monday it is cutting off all supplies to large industrial customers until at least March 31 because January temperatures were 44 per cent colder than normal.

The severe weather has also shut down scores of coal mines and idled at least a third of Kentucky's 40,000 miners.

The West has different problems. Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm wants to have clouds seeded to bring snow to dry plains and Rocky Mountain peaks. Some experts say it's the worst drought there since the 1930s.

Most Famous Lemonade Vendor Now Most Famous Fourth Grader

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's most famous lemonade vendor is now its best-known fourth grade pupil. Amy Carter, 9, finished her first day at Washington's Thaddeus Stevens elementary school Monday with a new puppy, a few words of Spanish, and, presumably, a black mark for tardiness on her next report card.

The puppy, named "Grits," was born to teacher Verona Meeder's springer spaniel on election night. Mrs. Meeder made the dog a gift to her new pupil after school ended Monday.

Amy began learning Spanish at a special after-school class she will attend three days each week.

Her tardiness was the result of Mrs. Rosalynn Carter's unfamiliarity with the pace of traffic in downtown Washington. The black government Chevrolet took 28 minutes to negotiate the eight blocks from the White House to the school. The bell had rung twice by the time Amy pulled up.

"We miscalculated how long it would take to get here," Mrs. Carter said.

Amy strode right past the large group of reporters and photographers who gathered to record her first day in school. It marked the first time a president's child has attended a public school since 1906, when Theodore Roosevelt's son Quentin did it.

Amy's 24 classmates said their day went almost normally. They said she read aloud, tumbled in gym, and ate hot dogs and beans in the school cafeteria.

'Survival Kit' Designed For Mothers With Out-Of-School Kids

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — What's a mother to do when her kids spend a month at home when they normally are at school? Dorothy Allgeier has a "survival kit" which is aimed at the kids, but may be just as important to her own piece of mind.

Several hundred miles away, another mother, Mrs. Abraham Lewis, also replenishes her version of the survival kit.

Mrs. Allgeier, who has seven of her nine children at home, said that she "was forced to develop my own survival kit" after the Christmas break turned into a month-long break.

Her kit "includes a sense of humor and a lot of snacks," she said. "Boy, do these kids eat when they have nothing to do."

Mrs. Lewis, whose children have been out of school since Dec. 22, said that her son Chris "misses the other boys, and Melissa, who is six, has forgotten the names of her friends in school."

Lunch is always a frustrating time for Mrs. Lewis.

"Chris wants one thing, and Melissa wants something else. How do you keep peace in the family?" she asked.

Mrs. Allgeier has an answer.

"I get a lot of work out of mine when they're stuck indoors," she said. "Keeping them busy keeps them from getting rusty."

In addition, "the kids get their books out and concentrate on their math," Mrs. Allgeier added. "That's better than having them lying around watching television. It's not good for them."

Mrs. Lewis said that her children don't spend the day in front of the TV.

"My two are permitted to watch some programs during the day, but not many," she said. "There are other things they can do to entertain themselves."

Neither woman relies on babysitters, nor does Mrs.

Betty Howell, a bookkeeper for the Estill County Board of Education.

"My son Stephen is fortunate," said Mrs. Howell. "He has two sets of grandparents, so he just shuttles back and forth. But like a lot of nine-year-olds, he's fed up with the snow."

So are a lot of Mrs. Howell's neighbors. She said that "some of them are ready to climb the wall because of their kids."

Mrs. Howell said one woman told her that she is "spending $15 a day on snacks. It got so embarrassing that the woman began going to a different grocery every day."

Flags have been used as symbols of tribal or group identity as far back as the time of the early Egyptian, Persian, Assyrian and Hebrew civilizations.
